Gymnastics Season Preview

> "Our goal is to go to the national championships in Boise, Idaho and to be number one in the EAGL conference."
> — Head Coach Bob Nelligan

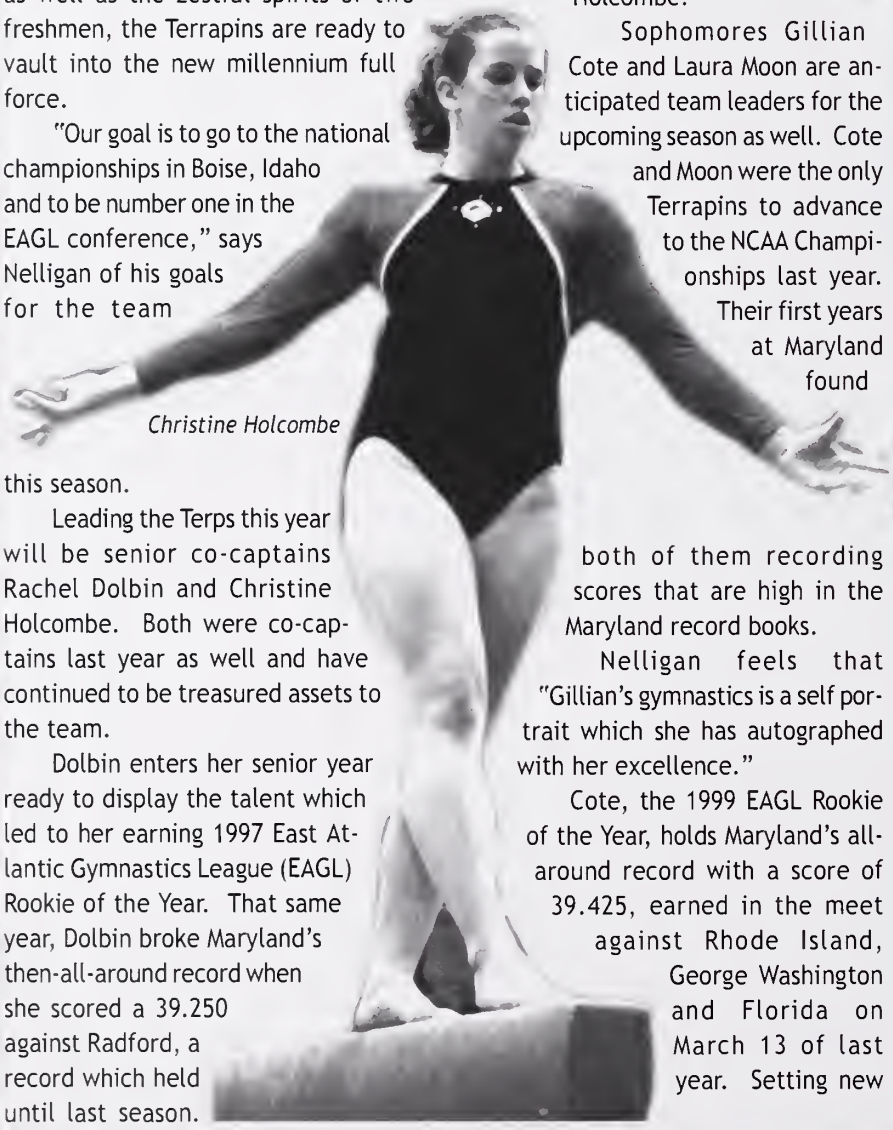
The Maryland gymnastics team is looking forward to the 2000 season with visions of success. Under the direction of Bob Nelligan, who is entering his 22nd season at Maryland, and assistant coach Wendy Marshall, the team is taking aim on a conference championship and a berth in the NCAA Championships. Armed with the experience of 13 returnees and a junior All-American transfer, as well as the zestful spirits of two freshmen, the Terrapins are ready to vault into the new millennium full force.

"Our goal is to go to the national championships in Boise, Idaho and to be number one in the EAGL conference," says Nelligan of his goals for the team this season.



Christine Holcombe

Leading the Terps this year will be senior co-captains Rachel Dolbin and Christine Holcombe. Both were co-captains last year as well and have continued to be treasured assets to the team.

Dolbin enters her senior year ready to display the talent which led to her earning 1997 East Atlantic Gymnastics League (EAGL) Rookie of the Year. That same year, Dolbin broke Maryland's then-all-around record when she scored a 39.250 against Radford, a record which held until last season. Last season she continued to shine with season highs of 9.825 on floor and 9.800 in vault.

"The great thing about Rachel is that she refuses to accept anything but her best effort," says Nelligan.

Gillian Cote

Holcombe was the Terps' highest finisher on vault at the 1999 Southeast Region Championships with a score of 9.800. "The difference between ordinary and extraordinary is that little extra effort she puts into her routines," says Nelligan of Holcombe.

Sophomores Gillian Cote and Laura Moon are anticipated team leaders for the upcoming season as well. Cote and Moon were the only Terrapins to advance to the NCAA Championships last year. Their first years at Maryland found both of them recording scores that are high in the Maryland record books.

Nelligan feels that "Gillian's gymnastics is a self portrait which she has autographed with her excellence."

Cote, the 1999 EAGL Rookie of the Year, holds Maryland's all-around record with a score of 39.425, earned in the meet against Rhode Island, George Washington and Florida on March 13 of last year. Setting new standards for Maryland throughout the season, Cote also holds Maryland's number one position on the uneven bars, on beam and in the floor exercise, as well as the 1999 season highs for the Terps on bars, beam, floor and in the all-around.

Moon also made her mark last year, earning the team's season high score in vault with a 9.850, matching the all-time Terrapin vault high held by senior Shelly Hernandez. Moon is within the top 10 of all Terrapins in every event including all-around. Throughout the 1999 season Moon continued to excel and improve.

"If we are what we repeatedly do, then Laura (Moon) will establish a new level of personal excellence in 2000," comments Nelligan.

Hernandez, returning for her fourth year, is looking to have a promising season as well. Competing in the vault, beam and the floor exercise, Hernandez has been a top performer for the Terps for the past three years. "Shelly might just be the unkindled spark which ignites this season's success," says Nelligan of Hernandez

On bars, the Terps are looking to sophomore twins Alyssa and Lisa Mealey to fly high. Both performed consistently on bars during their first season recording season highs of 9.800 and 9.850 respectively. "Alyssa's made up her mind to be a complete gymnast, and she is," says Nelligan. As for Lisa, Nelligan feels that "one will never have to question Lisa's level of commitment. She's reaching for the ultimate performance."

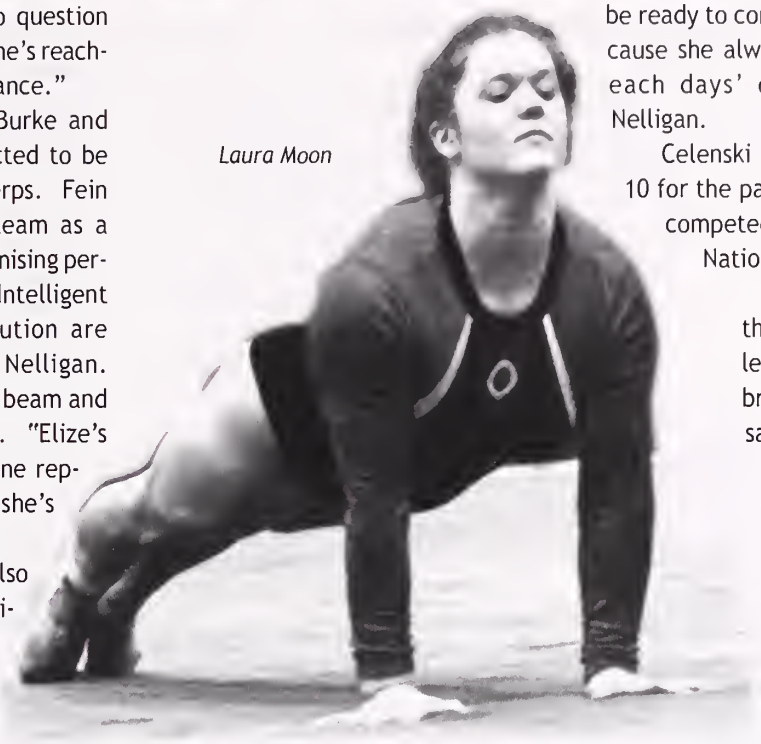
On beam, senior Elize Burke and junior Karyn Fein, are expected to be strong performers for the Terps. Fein was named All-EAGL first team as a freshman and should be a promising performer on beam and bars. "Intelligent direction and skillful execution are Karyn's trademarks," says Nelligan. Burke is expected to shine on beam and in the floor exercise as well. "Elize's beam routine and floor routine represent the very best of what she's got to give.'

Junior Jodi Morgan, will also be a strong all-around competitor. Coach Nelligan believes that Morgan's "commitment to excellence will enable her to attain the success she seeks."

Also adding to the all-around competition will be sophomore Kit Johnson. Nelligan sees Johnson as "one of Maryland's most elegant gymnasts ever." After competing consistently in every meet last year, Johnson is going to be instrumental to the Terrapins' success in 2000.

"Kit seems to thrive on the motto 'if better is possible, good is not enough,'" says Nelligan.

Senior Shannon Buckley is eager to return to the floor this year after having to forego competition because of an ACL injury. According to Coach Nelligan, "Shannon will go beyond the skills she has mastered and show how much she's grown." Sophomore



Laura Moon

Rachel Dolbin

Christina Samwell is also looking to be an active part of the Terrapins' program after competing in only two meets last year. "Chrissy tests her limits daily," says Nelligan. "She has the courage to improve and excel."

Brand new to the Terrapin program this year are freshmen Stacey Celenski and Catherine Gardner. Both are ready to be a part of the Terrapin program and are expected to perform well in the all-around competition. Gardner was a Level 10 national competitor in 1999 and MVP for her high school for four years.

"Catherine will be ready to contribute this season because she always makes the most of each days' opportunities," says Nelligan.

Celenski has competed at Level 10 for the past three years and also competed in the Junior Olympic Nationals in 1998.

"Stacy has accepted the daily training challenges and is prepared to break through barriers," says Nelligan of Celenski. "Her personality will shine."

The Terrapins gain a mixture of experience and novelty in junior transfer Jill Fisher. Fisher came to Maryland from the University of Massachusetts and is a welcome addition to the team. "Jill's strength is in her incredible will to excel and endure," says Nelligan. "She thinks she can't fail." In 1998 Fisher earned All-American honors in the floor exercise and scored a perfect 10 in floor at the NCAA's. Fisher's continued success in 2000 is greatly anticipated.

The 2000 season will not only mark the beginning of the new millennium for the Terrapins, but will also be a continuation of that Maryland spirit that has been rekindled in recent years. The Terps are on fire and that flame continues to grow with each passing year.

Maryland gymnasts are too positive to be doubtful, too optimistic to be fearful, and too determined to be defeated!

Head Coach Bob Nelligan

22nd season • Massachusetts '72

It is good to see that as the new millennium comes, some things do not change. The 2000 season marks Bob Nelligan's 22nd season at the helm of the Maryland gymnastics program. He is one of only three Maryland head coaches to have been with the Terps for over 20 years. In that time, Nelligan has been the driving force behind the Terps' success. His love for the sport and for his athletes is unique in today's world of gymnastics and has earned him the respect of the gymnastics world and his athletes. This past season marked a special occasion in Nelligan's career as he was honored as both the East Atlantic Gymnastics League and Southeast Region Coach of the Year, the first awards he has received in a prestigious career.

With a lifetime coaching record of 338-305-2 (.525 winning percentage), Nelligan has witnessed and adapted to the numerous changes that collegiate gymnastics has undergone. As gymnasts have gotten stronger, so has Nelligan's recruiting of the top gymnasts in the country. During Nelligan's career with the Terps, they have qualified for the NCAA Southeast Region Championships 10 times, including six consecutive from 1983 to '89.

Prior to the Terps' entrance into the Southeast Region in the 1983-84 season, the Terps competed in the East Region and qualified for the championships four of the seven seasons that they were members. He is one of several active coaches at Maryland who have been with the Terps for 20 years or more. He has the respect of all of his colleagues at Maryland and nationwide, and is recognized as one of the top gymnastics coaches in the country.

Maryland's level of success is only achieved through a strict regiment of training and conditioning, which Nelligan implements on a year-round basis. Nelligan is constantly striving to be the best and expects his gymnasts to do the same, both in athletics and in academics.

Last season, in addition to having three Terps named to the All-EAGL team, Maryland had 12 gymnasts earn All-EAGL academic honors, the most for the Terps in the four-year history of the league. Nelligan is responsible for ensuring that this level of success is constantly maintained. He is the Maryland Terrapin team leader, and the dedication and enthusiasm of the Terrapin gymnasts is a direct reflection of Nelligan's attitude and work ethic.

Even though his work with the gymnastics team consumes most of his time throughout the year, Nelligan still finds time to focus his energies on several other projects. He is the Assistant Coach of the Maryland Gymkana Troupe, the only touring exhibitional gymnastics troupe in the country. They perform nationwide and have become a main attraction on the Maryland campus.

Nelligan is also the co-founder of the Maryland Gymkana Camp and on numerous occasions has been a guest lecturer in the Health and Human Performance Department. He is also a director and master staff member at the Woodward Gymnastics Camp in Woodward, Pa., and is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches, the U.S. Elite Coaches Association and the University of Massachusetts Alumni Association.

Nelligan has also taught numerous classes regarding athletics and is striving to take athletics to another level through his pioneering of a wellness program for all of the varsity athletes at Maryland. This program is currently in the process of being implemented to each varsity sport and will ensure that athletes achieve their highest potential through the best means possible.

Originally from Braintree, Mass., Nelligan has more than 25 years of gymnastics experience. Prior to accepting the position of head coach at Maryland for the 1978-1979 season, Nelligan worked in various capacities at the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. From 1973 to 1975 he was a physical education instructor at the Masters School and also coached several teams, including gymnastics, lacrosse and softball. In addition to these responsibilities, Nelligan was named the Chairman of the Physical Education Department from 1975 through 1979. In 1973 Nelligan was a coach at Marvateens Gymnastics School in Rockville, Md., and before that was a coach at the Weymouth South High School in Weymouth, Mass. Nelligan received his B.S. in physical education from the University of Massachusetts in 1971.

Nelligan and his wife, Chris, have two children: Brett and Kelsey.

Assistant Coach Wendy Marshall

2nd season • Michigan '96

Wendy Marshall begins her second season as the Terrapins' assistant coach after making a dramatic impact in the first year. A 10-time All-American, Marshall epitomizes the level of enthusiasm and perfection that comes with making a Terp gymnast and was rewarded for her efforts at season's close, earning Southeast Region Assistant Coach of the Year for 1999.

Here at Maryland Marshall has helped the team increase its success. Marshall coached the Terps' beam team last season which was ranked nationally in the top six for the entire 1998-99 season. Her enthusiasm is great motivation for the team and she is bound to make many more positive things happen during her time at Maryland.

Each summer for the past five years, Marshall has been a member of the senior coaching staff at the University of Michigan Gymnastics Camp in Ann Arbor. In addition, from fall 1996 until this past summer, Marshall has been a physical education teacher, the head of the intramural program and head gymnastics coach for Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor. In both seasons with the Pioneer Gymnastics Team, the team won the conference championship.

Marshall earned a full athletic scholarship from the University of Michigan in 1992, and was a four-year varsity letterwinner and two-time Michigan co-MVP. She was one of the Big Ten Conference's most enthusiastic performers and an extremely consistent and solid gymnast each season with the Wolverines.

In Marshall's first season at Michigan, 1993, she was named a NCAA second team All-American on vault and earned All-Big Ten Conference honors. She tied for sixth on vault at the NCAA Central Region Championships, placed sixth in the all-around, 10th on bars, and 18th on floor at the Big Ten Conference Championships.

Marshall's breakout season was 1994 as she earned NCAA second team All-American honors on vault and all-around, was named to the All-Big Ten Conference team and earned Michigan co-MVP honors. At the NCAA Championships, Marshall finished 11th on vault (9.9) and 16th in the all-around (38.875). She captured the vault title at the NCAA Central Region Championships with a perfect 10. This was the first of her career and marked only the second time in Michigan history that a gymnast had scored a perfect 10.

The 1995 season saw Marshall named a NCAA first team All-American on beam, vault, and all-around and also earn All-Big Ten Conference honors. She was also voted Michigan's most improved performer and co-MVP. At the 1995 NCAA Championships, Marshall finished eighth on beam (9.825), vault (9.625) and all-around (39.275). At the NCAA Central Region Championships, she won her second consecutive vault title by scoring a perfect 10, her third of the season on vault, and also finished third in the all-around (39.25) and seventh on beam (9.85). Her outstanding season continued at the Big Ten Conference Championships where Marshall finished second in the all-around (39.275) and on floor (9.9), third on beam (9.8) and fourth on vault (9.9) as Michigan won its fourth consecutive conference championship.

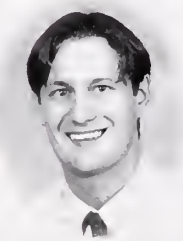
In 1996, Marshall earned Gymnast of the Year honors and also received the Phyllis Ocker Award for Academics and Athletics, and the Bob Ufer Spirit Award. Marshall earned first team All-American on beam, floor, and in the all-around and All-Big Ten Conference honors. Senior year also saw Marshall earning fifth place in the All-around at the NCAA Championships

The team was ranked No. 8 in the 1996-97 season, marking the first time in school history that the program was ranked. In the 1997-98 season, the Pioneer gymnastics team qualified for the region championships and had several individual state championship qualifiers and three All-Americans. They finished the season ranked No. 3, the second time in as many years that they had been ranked in the top 10.

Marshall graduated from Michigan in 1996 with a bachelor's degree in kinesiology and education. She currently resides in College Park, Md.

Assistant Coach Eric Grabowski

2nd season • Cortland State '95



Eric Grabowski begins his second season as an assistant coach with the women's gymnastics team and brings several years of coaching and competition experience with him.

For the past two years, Grabowski has been a Level 9-10 coach for Chantilly Academy in Chantilly, Va. He was the head coach for both the men's and women's gymnastics teams at Pittsford Central High School in Rochester, N.Y., and in 1998 was voted Coach of the Year.

For the past few summers Grabowski has been a master staff member at the Woodward Gymnastics Camp in Woodward, Pa., and from the summer of 1996 to the summer of 1997, was the assistant men's gymnastics coach at the Gymnastics Training Center in Rochester, N.Y. Grabowski graduated from SUNY-Cortland in 1995 with a B.S. in mathematics with a minor in management, where he was a member of the gymnastics team and was team captain in 1994.

Terp Talk With Rachel

The best advice I ever received was: be grateful for what you have and don't take your friends and family for granted.

If I lost all of my possessions but one, I would keep: my teddy bear.

My most memorable athletic moment is: being named EAGL Rookie of the Year in 1997.

My motto is: don't judge anyone until you get to really know them.

If I could go anywhere in the world, I would go: to the Great Barrier Reef in Australia so I could scuba dive off of it.

My best gymnastics memory is: breaking Maryland's all-around record during my freshman year.

1999 Season Highs: Vault - 9.800; Uneven Bars - 9.725; Balance Beam - 9.850; Floor - 9.825; All-Around - 38.600

Career Highs: Vault - 9.800; Uneven Bars - 9.850; Balance Beam - 9.850; Floor - 9.850; All-Around - 39.250

1999 Season Review

The 1999 season marked the beginning of an exciting new era for Maryland gymnastics. The year was to be one of broken records and living legends. With explosive performances from then freshmen Gillian Cote and Laura Moon, both who made appearances in the NCAA Championships, the team stunned opponents as they made their presence known as a strong force in the sport.

Laura Moon

Starting out against Radford on Jan. 9, the team earned an impressive victory by way of a stellar performance from Cote who placed first in vault, bars, beam and all-around. Moon took first in floor exercise, giving Maryland first place in every event.

Following the Radford meet, the Terrapins were ranked eighth in the nation by GymInfo, the official national gymnastics rankings of the NCAA. That week Maryland was the only school in the East Atlantic Gymnastics League to be ranked in the top 10.

On Jan. 23 at the George Washington invitational then freshman Kit Johnson led Maryland to its second win, earning first place in vault with a 9.800 and tying for first place on beam with a 9.700. Maryland also took first place on bars with Lisa Mealey's score of 9.750 and tied for first on floor with Cote's 9.850. After two meets, the Terps held onto first place in the EAGL and 22nd in the country.

At their next two meets, Maryland followed up their first place winning streak with two third place finishes at UCLA on Jan. 31 and at the Governor's Cup in Raleigh, N.C. on Feb. 7. Cote continued to excel, placing second in the all-around with a 38.600. At the Governor's Cup, Johnson scored a 9.825 on vault earning her first place and then second-highest vault score in Maryland gymnastics history.

Kit Johnson

The following week, Maryland found its way back to first place against West Virginia and Temple on Feb. 13. Cote came through for Maryland once again earning first place in bars, on beam and in the all-around. Johnson scored 9.800 on vault and Moon a 9.850 on floor giving Maryland a sweep of all the events. The Terrapins also placed first, second and third in both beam and floor. The team score of 195.175 was then the all-time high.

On Feb. 17 the Terps took on Southeast Region rival George Washington and came out on top scoring the then-second best score in Maryland history. The meet also found the team scoring season highs on vault and in floor. The Terrapins took first place in every event except for beam in which they placed second and fourth. Moon was the top finisher for the Terrapins this time earning first place on vault and floor, tying with Cote for second on beam, and scoring a 39.350 in the all-around, breaking Cote's all-time all-around record of 39.3 which was set just four days earlier.

Next the Terrapins found themselves traveling to Baltimore to take on EAGL rival Towson in the third dual meet of Maryland's season. Despite losing the meet 194.875 - 194.500, the women performed strongly, giving Maryland the all-time highest team score on the road. The team also scored a then-season high 48.9 on bars and tied the vault season high with a 48.775.

Two days later the Terps came in third at the Master's Classic in Nebraska, finishing behind then-No. 7 Nebraska and then-No. 8 Arizona. Maryland finished in front of California with a then-all-time high team score on the road of 195.200.

The following week the Terps bounced back to win first place at the Wolfpack Invitational at NC State on March 6. The team score of 195.425 set a new team high score record for on the road. The meet found seven Terrapin gymnasts setting or matching personal season highs, including Cote's 9.900 on bars, co-captain Rachel Dolbin's 9.725 on bars and 38.6 in the all-around, Karyn Fein's 9.800 on beam, Holcombe's 9.800 on bars and 38.975 in the all-around, Johnson's 9.925 on beam, Alyssa Mealey's 9.800 on bars and Moon's 9.850 on bars.

On March 13, the Terrapins came in second place against Florida, Rhode Island and George Washington in their final home meet of the regular season. The final meet saw the team approaching the end of the season retaining the energy and motivation that was apparent at the beginning, once again breaking their own team record with a total score of 195.575, the Terps' highest team score at home as well as overall. The meet marked the third consecutive meet where the team set a new all-time high score. Cote set a new Maryland all-time high in the all-around once again with a score of 39.425. Moon also continued to perform well on vault, as did Johnson in beam.

On March 27 the Terrapins closed the regular season hosting the fourth annual EAGL Championship. The meet marked the first time in school history that Maryland hosted a gymnastics championship. The Terps went into the meet with the highest regional qualifying score in the EAGL with a 195.100. The team ended up finishing second behind NC State with a score of 195.475, but set a school and EAGL Championship record on beam with a score of 49.425.

The weekend also found Cote, Moon and Johnson earning All-EAGL honors. Cote received EAGL Rookie of the Year, was named to first team for beam, bars and floor, was named to second team for vault and was a unanimous selection for all-around first team. At this point, Cote was the seventh-ranked all-around gymnast in the country. Moon was named to first team for all-around and beam, and second team for bars and floor. Johnson was also named to first team for vault and beam, ranked 11th on beam in the nation at the time. Also earning EAGL honors was Coach Nelligan, who was named EAGL Coach of the Year.

The Terps entered the post-season with a record of 27-10 and a regional qualifying score of 195.3187. The 1999 NCAA Southeast Region Championships were held in Morgantown, W. Va. on April 10. While they were unable to qualify for the NCAA Championships, the Terps did come in fourth place with a score of 194.125.

That same day Coach Nelligan and assistant coach Wendy Marshall were honored as the Southeast Region Coach and Assistant Coach of the Year, as voted on by other regional coaches.

Maryland's post-season would continue to the NCAA Championships through Cote and Moon who both qualified as individual all-around competitors. The championships were held in Salt Lake City, Utah on April 22-24. Cote and Moon came in 26th and 24th overall in the all-around competition.

At the end of the season, the Terps were ranked in the Top 20 overall, on vault and on bars, No. 5 on the beam, No. 3 overall in the southeast region and No. 1 overall in the EAGL. Maryland's 1999 season was nothing short of phenomenal. The team established itself as a strong national contender with undeniable talent in every event and will continue to be a fervent force far into the new millennium.

1999 EAGL Review

Terps host first gymnastics championship, finish second

The East Atlantic Gymnastics League (EAGL) became a reality on July 31, 1995 when eight prominent universities banded together to form a consortium created solely for the purpose of showcasing women's gymnastics on the East Coast. Representing three conferences and six states, the EAGL is compromised of Maryland, North Carolina and NC State of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Pittsburgh, Rutgers and West Virginia of the Big East Conference and New Hampshire and Towson of the North Atlantic Conference. In August 1996, the NCAA Council accepted the EAGL as an official affiliated member of the NCAA.

The fourth annual EAGL Championships held in College Park, Md., were the most exciting to date, with all eight teams in contention for the title. Held on March 21, NC State captured its first EAGL crown and marked the first time that West Virginia had not won the championship. Host Maryland had its best outing at an EAGL Championship with a score of 195.475 to place second and New Hampshire finished in third with a 194.800. Rounding out the field were North Carolina (194.675), Towson (194.325), three-time defending champion West Virginia (194.100), Pittsburgh (192.850) and Rutgers (192.375).

The Terps also set a EAGL Championship record on beam, recording a score of 49.425. Maryland placed four of its six beam gymnasts in the top five with freshmen Gillian Cote and Kit Johnson tying for second place with a score of 9.925. Junior Christine Holcombe and freshman Laura Moon tied for fourth place with Cara Lepper of New Hampshire and Maggie Haney of NC State, scoring a 9.900. North Carolina's Brooke Wilson captured her first ever title, winning the beam competition with an EAGL Championship record score of 9.950.

On vault, Towson's Liane Williams scored a 9.875 to capture the individual title. NC State's Kelli Brown and Towson's Niina Parjanen grabbed second place with a score of 9.850. In fourth place, North Carolina placed two gymnasts, Jennifer DeLuca and Brooke Wilson, who both scored a 9.825.

On bars, there was a two-way tie for first place between NC State's Amy Langendorf and Rutgers' Dawn Campbell, who both scored a 9.900. NC State's Kelli Brown tied with North Carolina's Shelley Austin for third place, with a score of 9.875.

On floor, there was another tie for first place. Towson's Williams scored a 9.900, as did Shirley Lee of West Virginia, in sharing the title. Maryland's Cote placed third with a 9.875.

Maryland claimed second place at the 1999 EAGL Championships held at Cole Field House.

The all-around title was won by Carolina's Wilson, who finished the night with a 39.325. Maryland's Laura Moon took second with a 39.275 and Pittsburgh's Danielle Alba placed third with a 39.175.

Pittsburgh's Danielle Alba was named EAGL Gymnast of the Year and Outstanding Senior Gymnast honors went to Towson's Liane Williams. Maryland's Gillian Cote garnered Outstanding Rookie Gymnast honors and North Carolina's Jen DeLuca was named EAGL Scholar Athlete. EAGL Coach of the Year honors went to Bob Nelligan of Maryland, his first coaching award in his 21-plus year coaching career.

For the second year in a row, the EAGL was well-represented at the NCAA National Championships at the University of Utah. West Virginia became the second EAGL team to qualify for nationals after the Mountaineers finished as NCAA Region 6 runner-up to Alabama. West Virginia recorded a 195.275 team score and went to nationals as the eight-seed.

In addition, the EAGL was represented among the individuals qualifiers as sophomore Langendorf of NC State and freshmen Cote and Moon of Maryland all qualified. North Carolina sophomore Wilson was an alternate.

Six EAGL teams qualified for regionals. Maryland, NC State and Towson joined West Virginia at the Region 6 Championships in Morgantown, W.Va. New Hampshire and Pittsburgh competed in the Region 5 Championships at Penn State.

Alabama and West Virginia qualified out of Region 6 as NC State was third with a 194.900 score. The Wolfpack had the highest regional score of any team that did not advance to nationals. Maryland was fourth in Region 6 with a 194.125 while Towson was sixth with a 192.850. In Region 5, New Hampshire was third with a 195.525 while Pittsburgh was fourth with a 191.500.

At nationals, the Mountaineers finished 12th with a score of 191.850. Among the individuals, Langendorf had a 38.800 score, while Cote had a 38.875 and Moon a 39.000 score.

The EAGL was also represented at the USA Gymnastics NIT in Philadelphia, Pa., as Towson and Rutgers finished one-two in the competition. The Tigers came from behind in the final rotation to edge Rutgers by 0.125 points. In winning its second NIT Championship in the last four years, Towson pulled out the meet with a 194.000 team score and Rutgers set a school record with its 193.875 score.

The 2000 season looks to be the most exciting yet as all teams have come a long way since the league's inception. The title is bound to be up for grabs again and the EAGL will be recognized as one of the top conferences in the nation. Look for all of the teams to be vying for a stop at nationals in 2000.

Ritchie Coliseum • Home of the Terps

The 1997-98 season marked the first time that Maryland gymnastics had competed anywhere except North Gym. Maryland gymnastics opened the Ritchie Coliseum era on Jan. 9 against EAGL-rival No. 24 Towson where the Terps defeated the Tigers, 188.575 to 185.125. It marked the first time since the 1988 season that Maryland had defeated Towson. The good fortune of the gymnastics team in Ritchie continued throughout the year as the Terps compiled a 4-1 record in Ritchie during the 1998 season.

In 1999, Maryland posted a 5-1 record at Ritchie. Overall, Maryland has a 9-2 record in meets held at Ritchie Coliseum. During the 1999 season, every individual and team record was established during a season which culminated with the EAGL Championships held at Cole Field House.

As the enthusiasm surrounding the gymnastics program increased over the last few seasons, so did the support from the fans and the turnout for each meet. Ritchie Coliseum's official seating capacity is 1,500, with seating located just several feet away from each event. Fans can either sit on bleachers, bringing them face-to-face with the competitors, or in the seat-back chairs located in the upper-bowl of the coliseum, providing more comfortable viewing. It gives all fans the opportunity to view the gymnasts from every angle and also enables them to feel like a part of the action as they can feel the intensity that accompanies every vault, dismount, flip, and performance.

Ritchie Coliseum was designed for all University of Maryland students. It is equipped with a new volleyball and basketball floor, a state-of-the-art weightlifting/conditioning room and martial arts room. Those not into weight training can enroll in various classes offered by the Campus Recreation Department. Whatever one's level, there is a class that fits one's needs.

Originally built in 1931, Ritchie Coliseum joined campus landmarks such as the Rossborough Inn and Turner Dairy on Route 1 in downtown College Park. The gymnasium joined the then nine-year-old 5,000-seat Byrd Stadium as one of the prime athletic facilities more than 65 years ago.

Ritchie Coliseum is located across the street from the Rossborough Inn on Route 1 in College Park, and resides right next to Fraternity Row.

Practice Makes Perfect at North Gym

The Maryland gymnastics team practices in the North Gym, located near the campus recreation center. North Gym is a state of the art gymnastics facility that covers 18,000 square feet. There are two spring floor exercise mats which lie side-by-side with a travelling overhead spotting rig used for vaulting as well as floor exercise. There are spotting belts that are placed above the uneven bars, the single rail bar, and the trampolines. The single rail bar, tumbling strip and vaulting area are all connected into or onto brand new fitted Tiffin resi pits. 20 centimeter mats surround AAI uneven bars and five new AAI Elite series balance beams. One of the most attractive features of the practice facility is the lighting, which is soft and leaves no shadows anywhere in the gym. Finally, there is a glassed-in trampoline room with four-string bed Goliath tramps surrounded by spotting platforms and 12-inch landing mats.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Ten years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

University of Maryland

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.

President C.D. Mote

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining a 10 percent appropriations increase in his first year.

When the legislature had finished its work for the year, Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley. He arrived in College Park determined to continue the same level of achievement in his new post.

After earning his doctorate in engineering mechanics from Berkeley in 1963, Mote spent a year as a research fellow at the University of Birmingham in England, then three years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh before returning to Berkeley in 1967.

There he stayed for more than 30 years before coming to Maryland. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Maryland

Terrapins

Among the Nation's Best

This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

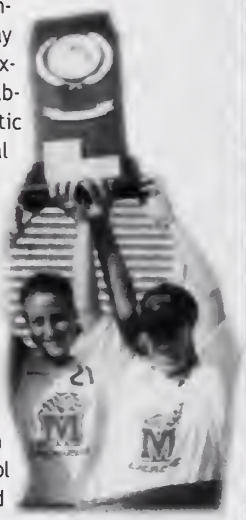
Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model – with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record five consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1998-99, as they posted their second consecutive Top 25 finish in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 to the No. 19 spot in 1997-98 was the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

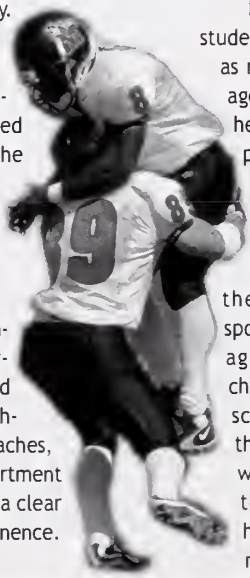


Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.



Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Yow to assume presidency of NACDA in July 2000

Dr. Deborah A. Yow has led Terrapin athletics to balanced budgets, high levels of productivity and achievement and a vigorous commitment to excellence throughout its operations. She is in her sixth year as Maryland's director of athletics.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all five of the more than $25 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years).
- Improved graduation rates for student-athletes, above that of the general student population, in three of those five years.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 10 percent of all NCAA Division I schools.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 85% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer service in every area.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past five years, Debbie Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles.

Dr. Yow is a member of the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee. In addition, she will become president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000, and was recently singled out by Street & Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management, and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletics program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit, headed by assistant athletic director Demetrius Marlowe, is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

MAPS Directory

This directory, the Maryland Athletes Placement Source, is produced annually by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin their professional careers.

Distributed to more than 1,000 corporations and businesses around the region, prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resumé information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Career Information Fairs

Career Awareness in Academic Support is expanding to include a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the semester. Career awareness is an ongoing process and includes assistance with resume writing and interview skills. The end of the semester brings a career awareness fair which hosts a number of professionals with whom student-athletes can learn about career interests and planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen area of interest.

Team Maryland

Team Maryland is a class taught in conjunction with the campus' James McGregor Burns Academy of Leadership in which student-athletes are exposed to leadership and public speaking skills and techniques. The program consists of a group of volunteer student-athletes who learn about the challenges for children in the community by speaking to different elementary schools about drug abuse and the importance of education. In addition to school visits, Team Maryland has hosted visits from local schools to our campus.

Strength & Conditioning

Collegiate gymnastics has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Barry Kagan that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the gymnastics team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for gymnastics is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. Kagan makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in gymnastics goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the gymnastics team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.

Athletic Administration

Rob Mullens

Sr. Associate A.D./Internal Operations

Rob Mullens, who joined the Terps' staff as assistant athletic director for business in the summer of 1996, was elevated to associate athletic director for administration in January 1999 and to senior associate athletic director for internal operations in February.

Mullens assists the athletic director with the overall administration of the athletic department's internal operations in addition to assisting with the operation of football and men's basketball. He also oversees the supervision of 15 sports and is responsible for overseeing the business office, ticket office, facilities and operations, and the computer systems analyst. As the chief financial officer, Mullens is directly responsible for the department's $25 million annual budget.

Mullens graduated cum laude in 1991 from West Virginia with a degree in business administration. He earned a master's degree in sport management at West Virginia in 1993. Prior to his appointment at Maryland, he was senior business manager and the chief budget officer for the University of Miami (Fla.) athletic department (1994-96).

Kathleen Worthington

Associate A.D./Internal Operations

Kathleen Worthington was named associate athletic director for internal operations in May and assumed her responsibilities in July. She came to Maryland from Morehead State University, where she had served as associate A.D. since February 1998 after spending two years as an assistant athletic director.

At Maryland, Worthington is responsible for supervision of baseball, volleyball, women's basketball, women's gymnastics, men's and women's track, and men's and women's cross country. She also oversees the sports medicine and strength and conditioning units in addition to managing ACC and NCAA tournaments hosted by the university.

She earned her bachelor's degree in mass communications from the College of Notre Dame in Maryland in 1985. She earned a master's degree in public relations from Syracuse and a master's in athletics administration from Wisconsin-LaCrosse. She was inducted into College of Notre Dame's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1997.

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Ritchie Coliseum may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Cherise Rhyns in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 1112 Cole Field House, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-1483. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home meet. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 1112 of Cole Field House, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Faxback: The Atlantic Coast Conference uses its own fax-on-demand system. For faxback information on the University of Maryland or any ACC school, please call the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office.

Terrapin Fan Phone: For up-to-date reports, comments from coaches, and other Maryland athletic department information, phone the Terrapin Fan Phone at (301) 314-TERP.
